

BRAD MORSE SPEAKER SERIES

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

WHEN ARCHIVES MEET AUTHORITARIANISM

How a controlling government keeps records of its actions usually only becomes clear after the ruling elite collapses and the public gains access to its archives. This talk will examine the record practices of recent repressive regimes to explore how they affect documentation, create political climates that lead to self-censorship and a lack of record creation, destroy records and control access.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 2024
11 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

COBURN HALL, ROOM 255
850 Broadway St., Lowell, MA

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

GUEST SPEAKER

Trudy H. Peterson, Ph.D. is an archival consultant and certified archivist. After spending 24 years with the U.S. National Archives, she became the founding executive director of the Open Society Archives in Budapest, Hungary, and then the director of archives and records management for the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. Peterson is currently the chair of the International Council on Archives' Human Rights Working Group. She holds a Ph.D. in history from the University of Iowa.

This event is sponsored by the Department of Political Science and the College of Fine Arts, Humanities & Social Sciences.

For additional information, email Judith_Aquino@uml.edu or visit uml.edu/fahss/political-science.

